

feminism and the museum: a symposium

THE NATIONAL LIBRARY OF AUSTRALIA, CANBERRA
SATURDAY 2 NOVEMBER 2013
9AM - 5PM

Image: The Lost Culture of Women's Liberation, The Pre-Dynastic Phase 1969-1974 (courtesy of Suzanne Bellamy).

Feminism and the Museum is an Australian Women's and Gender Studies Association mini-conference. It focuses on the role of museums, objects, and curatorship in second wave feminism. It will also feature the launch of Things That Liberate: An Australian Feminist Wunderkammer, edited by Alison Bartlett (UWA) and Margaret Henderson (UQ).

CALL FOR PAPERS CLOSSES 30 SEPTEMBER 2013
More Information at femmuseums2013.blogspot.com

KEYNOTE SPEAKER

Dr Kirsten Wehner

Head Curator, People and the Environment
National Museum of Australia

Speaking, Doing, Making, Being: Four modes of feminism in the National Museum

PERFORMANCE AND EXHIBITION

Suzanne Bellamy

*The Lost Culture of Women's Liberation,
The Pre-Dynastic Phase 1969-1974*