Submissions Open

Colloquy is a peer-reviewed online journal published twice annually by postgraduate students in the Literary and Cultural Studies Graduate Research Program at Monash University.

The editors are currently seeking submissions in the areas of critical theory, philosophy, literature, cultural studies, film and television, communications and media studies, and performance. We also regularly publish book reviews, translations and creative writing. All work is double-blind refereed by academic experts.

We have a particular interest in publishing work by current Monash and other postgraduates and early career researchers. Submission details online:
