

CRIMP

Lab

Launch

Party

Drinks & food provided

19 DECEMBER, 2018

1PM Public Lecture

2PM CRIMP Launch Drinks

RMIT CITY CAMPUS

Garden Building, 10.05.89

Professor Colman will present on creative research interventions in method and practice, and will launch the new CRIMP research laboratory at an after lecture drinks and networking session.

Party with lecture: modal ethics Professor Felicity Colman

Party with lecture provides an inventory of creative and pedagogic modal practices. The talk will consider the generative processes engaged by creative research methods as model iterations.

Modalities are the ways in which communities respond to the profound and the vernacular; and as such, the ways that they are mapped by research work is generative of and also reflective of the ethical modality of its community and its culture.

REGISTER HERE

crimplaunchparty.eventbrite.com.au

FIND CRIMP ONLINE

digital-ethnography.com/portfolio-posts/crimp-lab/

READ FELICITY'S BIO

digital-ethnography.com/team/felicity-colman/