Continuum is an academic journal of media and cultural studies. For over two decades it has contributed to the formation of these disciplines by identifying new areas for investigation and developing new agendas for enquiry in the fields. The journal has consistently provided a space for important new voices in media and cultural studies, while also featuring the work of internationally renowned scholars. Continuum is now one of the most highly regarded and most cited journals in media and cultural studies.

The journal is of central importance to all scholars involved in the research and teaching of media and cultural studies. It provides vital information and ideas for thinking about the formations of media in culture and the culture of media.

The journal editors are interested in papers investigating the relationship between media texts and wider questions of culture. Particular areas of interest include the formation of communities, publics and nations; questions of taste and value; international mediascapes; policy, industry and academic interventions; issues around the disciplinary status of history, media studies, cultural studies, philosophy and visual arts; and questions around technologies, identities and cultures.

Continuum is edited from Australia, with an international scope. It is affiliated with the Cultural Studies Association of Australasia.

Continuum is a refereed publication. All submissions are submitted to two reviewers for blind refereeing. The process normally takes six months to complete.

Editorial correspondence. General editorial correspondence, should be sent to: Panizza Allmark, Senior Editor of Continuum, School of Arts and Humanities, Edith Cowan University, 2 Bradford Street, Mount Lawley, WA, 6006, Australia. Details concerning the preparation and submission of articles can be found on the inside back cover of this issue. All papers should be submitted electronically via the journal's site at Manuscript Central: <http://mc.manuscriptcentral.com/ccon>.

Books for review may be sent to Christina Lee, Curtin University, GPO Box U1987, Perth, Western Australia 6845, Australia. Please submit reviews and review essays via the journal's site at Manuscript Central: <http://mc.manuscriptcentral.com/ccon>.

Notes for Contributors

Continuum is a refereed journal. Please allow six months for the reviewing process to be completed.

All submissions should be made online at Continuum's Manuscript Central site: <http://mc.manuscriptcentral.com/ccon>. New users should first create an account. Once a user is logged onto the site submissions should be made via the Author Centre.

Authors should prepare and upload two versions of their manuscript. One should be a complete text, while in the second all document information identifying the author should be removed from files to allow them to be sent anonymously to referees. When uploading files authors will then be able to define the non-anonymous version as "File not for review".

The journal's policy on length of articles is as follows: article-6000 words maximum; review article-4000 words maximum; review-1500 words maximum.

Layout. Articles should be double-spaced. Do not use any tabs in the layout of the text. For more information on the layout please see <http://www.tandfonline.com/ccon>

References. References should follow the Chicago author-date style.

Free article access As an author, you will receive free access to your article on Taylor & Francis Online. You will be given access to the My authored works section of Taylor & Francis Online, which shows you all your published articles. You can easily view, read, and download your published articles from there. In addition, if someone has cited your article, you will be able to see this information. We are committed to promoting and increasing the visibility of your article and have provided this guidance <<http://journalauthors.tandf.co.uk/beyondpublication/promotearticle.asp>> on how you can help.

Reprints and journal copies For enquiries regarding reprints, please contact the Taylor & Francis Author Services team at reprints@tandf.co.uk. To order a copy of the issue containing your article, please contact our Customer Services team at adhoc@tandf.co.uk.

Copyright. To assure the integrity, dissemination, and protection against copyright infringement of published articles, you will be asked to assign us via a Publishing Agreement, the copyright in your article. Your Article is defined as the final, definitive and citable Version of Record, and includes: (a) the accepted manuscript in its final form, including the abstract, text, bibliography, and all the accompanying tables, illustrations, data; and (b) any supplemental material hosted by Informa UK Limited, trading as Taylor & Francis Group. Our Publishing Agreement with you will constitute the entire agreement and the sole understanding between you and us; no amendment, addendum, or other communication will be taken into account when interpreting your and our rights and obligations under this Agreement. Copyright policy is explained in detail at <http://authorservices.taylorandfrancis.com/copyright-and-you/>. As an author, you are required to secure permission to reproduce any proprietary text, illustration, table, or other material, including data, audio, video, film stills, and screenshots, and any supplementary material you propose to submit. This applies to direct reproduction as well as "derivative reproduction" (where you have created a new figure or table which derives substantially from a copyrighted source). The reproduction of short extracts of text, excluding poetry and song lyrics, for the purposes of criticism may be possible without formal permission on the basis that the quotation is reproduced accurately and full attribution is given.

For further information and FAQs, please see <http://journalauthors.tandf.co.uk/preparation/permission.asp>

Copies of permission letters should be sent with the manuscript upon submission to the editors.
